Дорогі друзі!

Вітаємо вас із початком нового навчального року — третього у вашій історії вивчення англійської мови. Сподіваємося, перших два роки були цікавою і захопливою мандрівкою у світ Великої Британії, Сполучених Штатів Америки, Канади, Австралії та інших країн, де люди спілкуються однією з найпопулярніших мов світу.

Цього року ви навчитеся розповідати англійською мовою про свою домівку, кімнату, дізнаєтеся, як діти в англійськомовних країнах проводять свій вільний час, про те, як вони святкують їхні (та й твої, мабуть, також) свята, дотримуються традицій свого народу тощо.

Старанно навчаючись упродовж року, ви також зможете вільно спілкуватися англійською мовою про українську кухню, природу та визначні місця нашої країни.

Працюючи наполегливо, не забувайте і про відпочинок. У вас будуть канікули, упродовж яких ви відвідаєте багато цікавих місць, гратиметеся з друзями і, безперечно, дивитиметеся фільми. А чому б не спробувати переглянути їх англійською мовою (їх ви зможете знайти в інтернеті, у друзів чи у свого вчителя)?! Спробуйте!

Тож бажаємо вам успіхів у навчанні, приємної праці із книжкою, сторінки якої ви гортатимете упродовж року!

Як кажуть англійці: “May success attend You!”

People can live in villages, small towns, or big cities.

If a city is the place you live in, then you live in a multi-storey block of flats (or as the Americans call it — an apartment building) or a private cottage in the suburb of the city.

There are many tall buildings in such big cities as Kyiv, Kharkiv, Lviv and Donetsk. There are more than thirty storeys in such houses, that's why people call them skyscrapers. There is usually a lift in a skyscraper to help you get to the top of that building.

Many people live in small towns and villages. They have got their private houses or cottages. There is usually a garden with many vegetables and fruit trees in it. People like to work in their gardens.

- a small house
- an area where people live which is away from the centre of a town or city
- a floor or level of a building
- a machine that moves up and down between the floors in a tall building
- a building that has many levels or floors

4. Take turns to ask and answer the questions.

FOOTBALL — AN INTERNATIONAL GAME

Football is the most popular team game in the world. The game began in England. The first football clubs appeared in 1855.

Football spread internationally and won popularity in central Europe. Spain, Germany, Italy, and France, and other European countries took it up at the beginning of the last century, and established clubs. In 1971 women competed for the first time in the women's World Cup match in Mexico City.

One nation that resisted football's spread for a long time was the USA. 40 years ago the interest in football developed in the US. Great popularity of the Brazilian star player Pele helped much in this.

Two teams of 11 players play the game of football on a pitch. At either end of the field there is a goal post. A goalkeeper defends it. The main task for the players in a game is to force the ball into the small goal area. The winning team is the one which scores the most goals.

Ballet began in Italy and France during the Renaissance. It is still a very popular art form in Western culture.

Ballroom dances. Ballroom dancing was a formal dance in a large room. It became popular in Europe and North America. Central European folk dances, such as the waltz and polka, changed and became the most popular examples of ballroom dances. Before the First World War, new ballroom dances came to Europe from American continents, for example, FoxTrot, Rumba, Cha-Cha. The Argentine Tango became internationally popular by Carlos Gardel, his songs and films. At present, there are two types of ballroom dances: Standard (waltz, tango, quickstep, foxtrot and Vienna waltz) and Latino-American (cha-cha, samba, rumba, jive and pasodoble).

Popular/Modern dance. Popular (social or modern) dances often came from folk dances. They are easy and couples dance them. But they are usually popular for only a short time. SHOPPING CENTRES

A shopping center is a building or set of buildings with different big and small shops. Large shopping malls provide a one-stop shopping for anything imaginable.

The first shopping centres. People knew the Grand Bazaar of Istanbul in 15th century. It is still one of the largest markets in the world with more than 58 streets and 4,000 shops.

The Oxford Covered Market in Oxford, England, opened in 1774 and still works today.

The Burlington Arcade in London opened in 1819.

The largest shopping centres in the world. The New South China Mall is the largest in the world and was also once the most unoccupied with over 99% of its space being unused.

Beijing's (Peking) Golden Resources Mall, opened in October 2004, is the world's second largest centre, at 600,000 m².

West Edmonton Mall in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, is currently the largest mall in the Americas. It includes the largest indoor amusement park in the world and the largest indoor waterpark in the world.

Dubai Mall is also one the world's largest destination for shopping, entertainment and leisure, located next to the world's tallest building, the Burj Khalifa.

Shopping centres in Britain. The majority of British shopping centres are in town centres. A number of large out-of-town centres such as Meadowhall, Sheffield and the Trafford Centre, Manchester appeared in the 1980s and 1990s. The Metro centre, Gateshead, is the largest indoor mall-style shopping centre in Europe with over 330 shops, 50 restaurants and 11 screen cinemas.

Dear Oksanka.

You asked me about my favourite food. Well, I eat cereal or toast, bread with peanut butter and hot chocolate for breakfast. My Dad loves bacon and eggs in the morning. I usually take a ham sandwich to school. But we get a hot lunch there too. It's pizza and fried chicken or hamburgers. I love hamburgers.

There's also a food shop at my school. You can buy crisps, and sweets there. I often buy ice cream there during a break.

At home I eat lots of different things — steak with potatoes, chicken or fish and chips. My Mum often makes a fruit cake and green salads. I like chocolate milkshake. I don't like spaghetti. My family eat a lot of fruit and vegetable salads. But my favourite food is pizza. I know how to make it.

Mrs. Smith went shopping with her son. They looked for a present for Mr. Smith's birthday. Mrs. Smith wanted to buy him a new camera and Tom wanted to buy him a jumper.

When Mrs. Smith got to the Electrical Department she found that they sold cameras in the Photography Department on the ground floor. She took the lift down and asked the shop assistant there for some help. She didn't know much about cameras and needed some advice. He recommended an automatic camera by Olympus, but it was too expensive. She asked him if he had anything a little cheaper and he told her about a special offer on the Pentax range. The English people also bring a Christmas tree to their homes and decorate it with toys, sweets and other things.

On Christmas Eve the English people put their presents under the Christmas tree. The children put their stockings above their beds. At night Santa Claus comes and puts presents into their stockings.

On Christmas Day people don't work, so they go to the church to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. When they come home they sit at the table and eat traditional Christmas dishes: stuffed turkey and the Christmas pudding. They open their presents and are very happy with what they get. “I am glad to serve the Lord”, said Mary. Then the angel left her.

Mary married a good man from Nazareth. His name was Joseph, and he was a carpenter. One day they went to Bethlehem to pay taxes. And there Mary bore her son. That night a bright star appeared in the East. Three wise men followed the star. Then it stopped over the place where Jesus was born.

The child grew up strong in spirit and wisdom. And Mary knew the grace of God was with him.

THE SNOWMAN

One day we built a snowman,
 We built him out of snow;
 You should have seen how fine he was,
 All white from top to toe.
 We poured some water over him,
 To freeze his legs and ears;
 And when we went indoors to bed,
 We thought he'd last for years.
 But, in the night a warmer kind
 Of wind began to blow;
 And Jack Frost cried and ran away,
 And with him went the snow.
 When we went out next morning
 To bid our friend "Good Day",
 There wasn't any snowman there...
 He'd melted right away!

ICICLES

We are little icicles
 Melting in the sun.
 Can you see our tiny teardrops
 Falling one by one?

JANUARY

January is here —
 A fine new start
 For a whole new year.

 The world is white.
 In January
 When there's snow,
 We get our sleds
 And away we go.

ENGLISH HOLIDAYS

(Part II)

In March the English people have got two holidays: St. Patrick's Day and Mother's Day. St. Patrick's Day falls on the 17th of March. It is a national holiday in Ireland. On that day people send greeting cards and wear a shamrock. A shamrock is the national emblem of Ireland.

On Mother's Day people in the family try to let their mother have a rest. A father and the children do the housework, cook some tasty dishes or bake a cake.

There is one more popular holiday in spring — Easter. People celebrate it in April or in early May. On Easter Sunday the children get chocolate Easter eggs or rabbits.

In April there is a holiday for fun — April Fool's Day. It is on the 1st of April. On that day the English children like to play jokes and tricks on other people.

There are not many holidays in summer. In June the English people celebrate Father's Day when the children spend the day with their fathers and give them presents.

In summer the English people visit their relatives who live in the country or go to the seaside. Most English people have holidays in summer.

Autumn is the beginning of the schoolyear for all English schoolchildren. They also like to celebrate a very nice holiday — Halloween. It is on the 31st of October.

People put pumpkins on the windowsills. The children draw eyes, a nose and a mouth on the pumpkin and put a candle inside it so the pumpkin looks like a face. The children go from house to house in funny clothes and say "Trick or treat". They get sweets, fruit, cakes, biscuits or money for that.

HALLOWEEN STORY

The story of Halloween goes back to the ancient times. The people who lived in Britain and Ireland thousands of years ago were the Celts. They celebrated the New Year on November 1. Because October 31 was the day when the sun set at its lowest, the Celts believed that the sun entered the underworld for a short time. That's why the gates of the underworld were open and let the evil spirits appear on the Earth.

The Celts then lit large bonfires, dressed up as witches and ghosts to frighten away the evil spirits. Later, November 1 became a Christian holiday as All Saints Day or All Hallows. The night before that day was the Eve of All Hallows or Halloween.

If not, the ghost goes free and the ghost hunter must try again.

WINTER

Winter is a wonderful season. On a bright winter day the nature is beautiful with trees covered by snow. We like winter for the snow and also for the best holidays of the year.

In winter when it is frosty most children like to play outdoors: they play snowball fights, make a snowman, sledge, skate and ski. But when the temperature is more than -10°C (minus 10 degrees Celsius) and it is windy, it is then better to stay indoors. Then it is not only cold to play, it is freezing and the snow squeaks under your boots when you walk. It's then better to put on warm clothes like a sweater, gloves and an anorak, and to wear winter boots on your feet.

The weather is also nasty at the end of winter when the snow melts and water is everywhere. There are streams and puddles of dirty water in the streets. Then we say it is a thaw. But we are not very upset because spring soon comes.

 And ready for hot soup with lunch.

In early spring it is generally cool. Then it becomes warmer, the sun shines, but it occasionally rains, often even thunders with lightning. The spring rains, especially in May, are warm and necessary for the future harvest.

SUMMER

Summer is probably the most popular season among schoolchildren. It's the time for fun, entertainment and a good rest.

Most families try to go to the seaside to bathe and get suntanned, but some prefer to have their rest in the mountains and breathe fresh mountain air.

The weather is wonderful in summer in all parts of Ukraine. It is usually warm, sometimes hot. The sun warms the water in the sea, the rivers and lakes.

If your family doesn't go to the seaside you can bathe in the river or lake in your town or village. The average summer temperature is +25–27 °C. It seldom rains. If it rains, it is still warm outside in summer.

When the schoolchildren are back to school in September they look healthy and ready to start a new academic year. They are also full of impressions from their summer holidays and eager to share them with their friends.

Autumn is another season, or as Americans call it — the fall. It is the time for the harvest. The fruit and vegetables are the tastiest in autumn. But it becomes colder and colder every autumn month. It is still warm in September, but it can even snow in late October. The leaves on the trees turn red and brown in October and then they fall in November. It often rains in autumn, sometimes it pours cats and dogs. The rain is usually cold and can last for several days. It is sometimes foggy in the mornings. The temperature is +5–10 °C.

MEANS OF TRAVELLING

Most people like to travel, because travelling gives you much new and interesting information about the world, different foreign countries, the nature and other people.

There are different means of travelling, and they have got their advantages and disadvantages.

You can travel on foot. This is hiking. It is the cheapest way to travel. You can go wherever you like — there isn't any special route. You can stop and have a rest whenever and wherever you want. But it can take you much time to travel over far distances, and that's why you can soon get tired.

A faster and a more comfortable way is travelling by car. But you must have enough money to buy petrol for your car, and still you can not travel very fast.

People also travel by coach: you don't drive your car and don't get tired. But this way of travelling takes much time as well.

You can cover longer distances by train or by plane, but then it is more expensive. Moreover, you don't see anything behind the plane window.

London is the capital of Great Britain. Many people call it the heart and soul of the UK due to its history, culture and diversity.

It is a very big and beautiful city that is quite popular for international tourism. There are many architectural monuments in it. One of them is a large clock tower located at the northern end of the Palace of Westminster. The clock tower is 96 meters tall. It contains the Great Clock, a striking clock with five bells. The tower is nicknamed "Big Ben", however it is the name of the largest bell. The tower was officially called the Clock Tower until 2012, when it was renamed to Elizabeth Tower. The Buckingham palace is the official residence of the King. You can see the Changing of the Guard ceremony there. The Tower of London was used as a fortress, a royal palace and a prison. Now it's a museum. A modern but already very popular tourist attraction is the London Eye, a giant observation wheel. Each capsule of the Ferris wheel can hold up to 25 passengers. It is the tallest Ferris wheel in Europe.

There are many other attractions in London, so this city is worth seeing.

3. Say the sums as it is given in the model.

Model: $5 \cdot 16 + 40 - 6 = 114$

We multiply five by sixteen, then we add forty and subtract six.
It equals one hundred and fourteen.

$$16 / 4 + 3 - 1 = 6$$

We divide sixteen into four, then we add three and subtract 1.
It equals six.

$$18 \cdot 3 - 12 + 4 + 52 = ?$$

$$25 \cdot 5 - 4 + 10 = ?$$

$$44 / 4 + 11 \cdot 35 = ?$$

$$22 \cdot 2 - 2 + 212 = ?$$

$$20 / 5 + 10 \cdot 39 = ?$$

$$27 \cdot 4 - 5 + 112 = ?$$

CHINESE FABLE: CHINESE ZODIAC

A long, long time ago, there was no calendar in China. Since people didn't have means to measure time, they didn't know when to grow crops and when to expect seasonal changes. It was such an inconvenience!

Jade Emperor, the almighty Chinese God, took note of the situation and wanted to help. He announced that he would set up a system that runs in a 12-year cycle. He called it the Chinese Zodiac. He offered to hold a contest on his birthday. The first twelve animals of his kingdom to arrive at the finish line would receive the honor of having a year named after it. All animals were very excited!

Rat was ambitious. It wanted to win the first prize. Yet, it had two problems. The first was about the timing. Because the race would start at the crack of dawn, Rat was afraid that it could not wake up on time. The second was about the route. As the finish line would be directly beyond a swift river, Rat needed to find a way to cross the current. Just when Rat was contemplating a solution, it bumped into its best friend, Cat. After a lengthy discussion, the two animals came up with a brilliant idea. They decided to solicit help from Ox. Rat and Cat figured that Ox — always being an early riser and a good swimmer — could wake them up before sunrise and carry them across the river. With their minds made up, Rat and Cat went to see Ox. Out of kindness, Ox agreed to help. Hence, the three animals formed an alliance. They promised to help each other, so they could share the first prize.

On the day of the race, Ox woke up Rat and Cat and put them on its back. Just when Ox was half way across the river, Rat had a second thought about the plan. It wondered, "Why should I share the glory with Cat? Look at it! It just lies on Ox's back sleeping! What a lazy animal Cat is! Come to think of it, what if Cat decides not to honor the agreement? It runs fast. Surely, it can get to the finish line before I do, once Ox reaches the bank." Eager to win, Rat decided to get rid of Cat. It quietly crept next to Cat and gave it a push. SPLASH! Cat fell into the river. Not knowing how to swim, Cat called out for help. To its horror, Rat pretended not to hear its pleas and urged Ox to keep on moving.

A SNOW-GOOD EXPERIENCE

By Beth Beutler

Derrick was excited. Kindergarten was cancelled this morning due to a snowstorm. He planned to go outside and build his very first "all by myself" snowman. He was now five years old and was strong enough to roll the sparkly clean snow into three balls the size of a bottom, middle, and head. His mother came outside with him, but he didn't want her help this time.

“I can do it myself, Mom,” he called.

“Okay, sweetie,” she said with a smile. He surely was growing up. Her breath made puffs of frost in front of her face as she proudly watched Derrick work. “Why don’t I get you some clothes for the snowman?” she called.

“Okay, Mom,” Derrick agreed.

Derrick’s mom headed into the house. She gathered some buttons, a carrot, a scarf, mittens, and a hat. When she came back out, Derrick was lifting a large snowball onto an even bigger one.

Derrick’s mom watched for a few minutes. She remembered that just last year Derrick wasn’t quite strong enough to create the snowman himself. While she watched, he began to roll one more ball. This one was a little smaller. He carefully placed it on top of the other two.

“Okay, Mom. Let me have the stuff.”

Derrick placed the buttons, scarf, and carrot on the snowman. He found some sticks to make arms. Then he attached the mittens. He stepped back to look at his new friend.

“Hey, Mom! What do you think?” he asked.

IRELAND

By Sharon Fabian

Ireland, a small island country in the Atlantic Ocean near England, has gone through many changes. Ever since the Ice Age, both the land and the people of Ireland have faced changes. During the Ice Age glaciers changed the land itself, wearing down the mountains and carving bays into the coastline. The Irish people have changed over time too. When we think of early Irish people, we usually think of the Celts. The Celts came to Ireland around 500 BC. They were Iron Age people who worshipped nature and lived in small kingdoms. Their Celtic language was the basis for the modern Irish language, also called Gaelic.

One of Ireland’s early heroes was St. Patrick. At first, he came to Ireland as a slave, but he escaped and became a Christian priest. Later he returned to Ireland to help the Irish people. St. Patrick started monasteries where Irish people and others could get a classical education. Influenced by St. Patrick, most of the Celtic people became Christian.

In the 17th century, Ireland was taken over by England.

Ireland is a country full of amazing culture and heritage. This island country in the north Atlantic is known for its free-spirited and friendly natives, its beautiful green landscapes and its art and music. Ireland’s history spans thousands of years, but many of Ireland’s great traditions from the past are present today.

One of Ireland's earliest traditions is the art of storytelling. Thousands of years ago, Irish storytellers told great tales of heroes, fairies, and the gods. In fact, the oldest epic poem of Europe is an Irish story. About 4,000 AD, when writing was introduced to Ireland, many of the stories were recorded and new ones were created.

Some Irish musicians put these stories to music. Ireland's musical tradition dates back as far as those early storytellers. The music of Ireland helped to shape much of Western music as it exists today. Traditional Irish music usually features strong and clear singing over upbeat and cheerful music. Irish musicians play a number of stringed instruments, many of which can be found in today's bluegrass and country music bands.

The friends all laughed. They walked to the party together.

It was a very good party. They all had fun. Lisa won a prize because she was wearing more green than anyone else!

THREE SIBLINGS AND A BIG SECRET

By Brenda B. Covert

Early Sunday morning, Madelyne sang out, “Mom, are you up? Happy Mother’s Day!”

With a sigh, Madelyne’s mother, Erica, climbed out of bed. Madelyne sang a Happy Mother’s Day song to the tune of “Happy Birthday to You,” which was followed by Alyssa’s teenage voice telling Madelyne to tone it down.

“What are we having for breakfast?” was Carter’s greeting in the kitchen. Erica noticed that no one had made breakfast for her.

“Cold cereal,” Erica replied with a sigh. Why hadn’t she at least bought some delicious pastries for breakfast? As much as the effort to give herself a special day would have bothered her, seeing that the kids weren’t making any effort was worse. Furthermore, she didn’t like cold cereal. She missed her husband, Scott, and felt resentful that he was off serving his country in the military instead of spending Mother’s Day with her.

She and the children rushed around getting ready for church. Oddly, Madelyne was acting a lot happier than normal, practically giddy. It was highly irritating.

At the car Erica discovered a corsage box in her seat. “What’s this?” Surprised, she opened the door and reached for the box. In it was a white orchid.

“Put it on! Put it on!” Madelyne exclaimed, dancing around.

Carter climbed into the back seat as if nothing unusual had happened. A little grin played on his face.

“Did you do this?” Erica asked. She pinned the flower to her shoulder and got in the car.

“I think an angel must have left it for you,” Madelyne said with exaggerated care from the backseat.

Later that morning, they left church and headed down the sidewalk to the parking lot.

IT’S GOING TO BE A LONG SUMMER

By Phyllis Naegeli

“What’s wrong?” Mom asked Shelly as the young girl came into the kitchen and plopped down on a chair.

Shelly pouted and crossed her arms. “Today is the last day of school!”

“I know. Aren’t you excited about having the whole summer off?” asked Mom.

Shelly burst into tears. “Not without Kristy!” she sobbed, putting her head in her hands.

“Oh,” said Mom, shaking her head in sympathy as she walked over to the table and put her hands on Shelly’s shoulders to console her. Slowly, Shelly composed herself.

“Kristy is my best friend, Mom. What I am going to do all summer without her?”

“It will be OK. After all, it’s not the whole summer. She’s just going to her grandparents until the end of July,” said Mom.

Shelly got up from the table, walked over to the counter, and grabbed her lunch. “But it’s such a long time,” she said, pouting again.

“It will go by quickly. Is Kristy still coming over after school today?”

“I think so,” said Shelly as she picked up her backpack and put her lunch inside the pack.

“Then I will see you both this afternoon,” said Mom, ushering Shelly out the door as the bus drove up to the end of the driveway.

“Bye, Mom,” said Shelly, hanging her head and walking slowly to the bus.

Shelly got on the bus and sat down next to Kristy. “Have you been crying, too?” asked Kristy.

APPLE HARVEST

By Sharon Fabian

At the grocery store, you can buy fresh Red Delicious, Gala, or Fuji apples to eat. You can buy Golden Delicious or Granny Smith apples to make a pie from scratch. You can buy a gallon of cider made from Winesap apples. You just pick out what you want and pay at the cash register.

If you had your own apple orchard, apples would be a busy, year-around job. Apple growers schedule tasks all year long in order to have a good harvest in the fall and to get the apples to your grocery store while they are still fresh. When you work in an apple orchard, you keep busy.

Early in the spring, you will be out in the orchard fertilizing the trees and planting new trees. Maybe you are just replacing a few old trees that no longer produce many apples, or maybe you are adding rows of trees to enlarge your orchard or to try a new variety of apples.

Soon the trees begin to show their pink and white blooms. Don’t spend too much time admiring the flowers! You need to rent some bee hives to pollinate all of your trees.

You don’t want your trees to grow lots of tiny apples. You want to grow nice big ones, so after the blooms fade you start checking your trees to see if the buds need to be thinned. Maybe you will thin them by hand, or maybe you will use chemicals to do the job.

HALLOWEEN IN OTHER COUNTRIES

By Beth Beutler

“Halloween” conjures up different reactions in people within America and around the world. America has made Halloween a fun, and commercial, holiday, unlike some other countries. There is an old Celtic belief that souls of those who have passed away revisit the earth on October 31, and many countries have more serious traditions to honor the dead. Some, like America, use the night to have some fun. Unfortunately, some folks use the night as a time to play tricks on others, and that could happen in any country.

In some countries, “Halloween” may not even occur on October 31. Celebrations with other names may occur November 1 or at other times of the fall or even summer. Here’s a sampling of what other people do to celebrate “Halloween” or festivals that honor the dead.

Mexico: El Dia de los Muertos (Day of the Dead) — The holiday begins the night of October 31, continuing on November 1 with All Saints Day and November 2 with All Soul’s Day. These may be considered by many Mexicans as the most important celebrations of the year. Mexicans use these days as an opportunity to decorate the graves of family and friends who have passed away. November 1 focuses on children who have died, and November 2, on adults. People often set up altars with food to welcome the souls for a visit.

Italy: On November 1 in Sicily, children anticipate that they will awaken on November 2 to sweets and toys left by their dead relatives. Does that feel creepy to you?

PUMPKIN FACTS AND FUN

By Phyllis Naegeli

Pumpkins aren’t just for jack-o’-lanterns. This member of the squash family that we normally eat as a vegetable is really the world’s largest fruit. The current world record holder grew a pumpkin that weighed 1,337.6 pounds. Now that’s a giant fruit! They are also quite colorful. Different varieties come in white, yellow, and orange. The bright orange ones we usually think of are the Connecticut field variety. I don’t know about you, but I don’t think a jack-o’-lantern would be quite the same if it was made from a white pumpkin.

When pumpkin seeds are planted in the ground, they grow into vines. Bright yellow-orange flowers bloom along the vine. Then, as the flowers wither, beneath them the little green pumpkin begins to grow. Pumpkins take quite awhile to mature. From planting to harvest is about four months. By October, about eighty percent of the pumpkins grown in the United States are on hand. Just in time for Halloween.

Pumpkins are nutritious too. They are high in vitamin A, vitamin B, and potassium. They are low in calories, low in salt, and contain no cholesterol. They are used in many recipes. Breads, cookies, pies, and soup are made from pumpkins. The pilgrims hollowed out pumpkins, added milk, honey, and spices. It was then baked in hot ashes making the first pumpkin pie. They also used the flowers and leaves in salads. Yes, they are edible too.

CARS

A long time ago there were no cars. It was hard to go from place to place. People walked. People rode horses. People drove horses with wagons or buggies. Today, people still walk and use horses. But they also drive cars. Cars are faster. Cars are comfortable.

Do you know who invented cars?

Many people think a French man named Nicolas Cugnot did. He made the first car in 1769. The first car had only three wheels. It did not use gas. It used steam! Nicolas Cugnot was also the first man in a car crash. He drove his car into a brick wall! When he drove his car, he was only moving about as fast as you can walk.

SATELLITES

By Trista L. Pollard

*Satellite bright, satellite bright,
Will you be the first satellite I see tonight?
Orbiting above our sky so high,
Sending signals to cell phones and televisions nearby....*

The poem is right about satellites orbiting above our planet. However, unlike stars, we do not see these satellites in our sky at night. The moon is the earth's natural satellite. Satellites are objects that revolve around another object. Scientists have designed the many satellites that orbit our planet. Once in orbit, they need to move at an orbital velocity of five miles per second (8 kilometers per second) to stay in orbit. When a satellite slows down, it leaves its orbit and falls back to earth. The satellite burns up when it enters earth's atmosphere.

Each satellite has a radio transmitter to send signals and a receiver to pick up signals. This allows the satellite to send information back to earth. Scientists can also control the satellite from earth. They send signals to tell the satellite to turn on or off or to change position. There are five types of satellites. Research satellites are used to take measurements in outer space. These satellites send back information about magnetic fields and properties of other planets and other celestial objects we cannot see from earth. One famous research satellite is the Hubble Space Telescope.

THE LOCH NESS MONSTER

By Vickie Chao

On May 2, 1933, a British newspaper, the Inverness Courier, printed a story that later created a worldwide sensation. The story was about an extraordinary experience of an ordinary couple in Scotland. According to the newspaper, Mr. and Mrs. Mackay, who were hotel owners, spotted a monster in Loch Ness on April 14. (“Loch” means “lake” in Scottish.) They reportedly saw “an enormous animal rolling and plunging on the surface.” Right away, the sighting set off a media frenzy. All major British newspapers tried to get the inside story. The excitement was contagious. Soon, the foreign press picked up the story, too. Almost overnight, the Loch Ness monster, nicknamed Nessie, became an international star. It made Loch Ness a very popular vacation spot. As tourists flocked to Scotland, they had one goal in mind. They wanted to see Nessie. Many swore they did. But their so-called “evidence” turned out to be a hoax.

In the early morning of April 19, 1934, a surgeon by the name of Robert K. Wilson went on a hunting trip near Loch Ness. While he was driving, he noticed something moving in the water. He stopped his car to inspect. As he gazed toward the lake, he saw a slender neck of a serpent rising out of the water. By chance, he had a camera with him at the time.

So he quickly snapped a picture to document what he saw. This very photograph, published by the Daily Mail, became the image of Nessie. It was living proof that the Loch Ness monster was not a mere legend. It was real!

Now fast forward sixty years to March 12, 1994. An ailing old man named Christian Spurling made a startling confession on his deathbed. He admitted that the Surgeon’s Photo was a fake.
