MY WORKING DAY

I'd like to tell you about my weekdays during my final year at school.

On weekdays my working day began early in the morning. I don't like to get up early, but I got used to it. I usually got up at about 7 o'clock. Then I did my morning exercises and went to the bathroom to wash my face and hands with soap and clean my teeth with toothpaste. At a quarter past seven I was ready to have my breakfast. As a rule, I had a quick light breakfast which consisted of a cup of coffee or tea, a boiled egg or an omelette and a cheese or sausage sandwich. After breakfast I put on my coat, took my bag and left for school.

As my school is not far from my house, it took me 10 minutes to get there. I never took a bus or a trolleybus on my way to school.

I usually had six or seven lessons a day. I loved all my subjects at school, because our teachers were highly qualified and enthusiastic. They always knew how to stimulate us to study and how to develop our intellectual curiosity.

The classes at school were over at about three o'clock. Sometimes I stayed at school after classes to play basketball or table tennis or to take part in any other after school activity.

When I came home I had dinner. My parents always cooked delicious dishes for me. After my dinner I went out with my friends. On rainy days I stayed at home and listened to music, watched TV or played computer games. At about 8 o'clock in the evening I started doing my home assignments. I had to work hard at all the subjects as it was my final year at school.

I did well in most school subjects, but I had to have private lessons in English and Mathematics as I wanted to enter the university.

As a rule, I took a shower or a bath late in the evening and at about 11.30 p. m. I went to bed.

Tahoma 10 B I U

Dear friend,

My uncle Den and aunt Polly are a lovely and imaginative couple. They love sports and travelling very much. They have just come from the trip round the world. They are happy because they have visited a lot of countries: France, Germany, the USA, Canada, Australia and others.

When they are in their village, their daily schedule is a little boring, I think. They usually get up at 8 a.m., take a shower, have breakfast and leave for work. My aunt is a nurse in the village hospital, and my uncle is a construction worker. They have lunch at their places of work. At about 5 or 6 p.m. they come back home. They have supper, watch TV or read a newspaper and at 10 p.m. they go to bed.

But during their trip around the world everything was different. They got up very early, had their breakfast and went on excursions. They managed to see the Eiffel Tower in France, visit Dresden Gallery in Germany, enjoy the attractions of Disney Land in the USA, swim in the five Great Lakes in Canada, and ride a kangaroo in Australia.

My cousin Susan and her husband Tom didn't travel with them, because they have a baby, my nephew. He is a lovely, funny and cute boy. He always looks and smiles at me. Will you tell me, please, about your aunt's family?

Write me soon.

Yours,
Ann

Dear friend,

In this letter I'd like to tell you about the people who brought me up. They are my grandmother and grandfather. My grandfather passed away 5 years ago. He was a good-natured and easy-going person. It was very difficult for my granny to get over the death of my grandfather. I suppose that only her strong will helped her overcome all the difficulties. She still works, though she is 62. She is a hard working and organized woman. I have a high opinion of her.

In general, my relatives live in Chernihiv, Mykolayiv, Ternopil, Odesa and in some villages. They are all different but lovely people. We live friendly with them and when we have time we visit them.

Do you love your grandparents? Write me about them, OK?

Yours,
Ann

5. Read the text and write down all the reasons why people choose the clothes they wear. Then, define these reasons in your own words.

THE CLOTHES WE WEAR

Without realizing it, the clothes we choose to wear tell other people a lot about us. We often judge others by the clothes they are wearing. For example, people dressed in expensive clothes are thought to be wealthy.

Our shoes, accessories and jewellery, all tend to create an impression of social class and personality. Similarly, our choice of clothing also depends on our age and whom we are influenced by. On the other hand, we do not always get the chance to choose our clothes. If we work as a nurse, police officer or firefighter, we have to wear a standard uniform. Lastly, our ideas of beauty are revealed by our style of dress. Dressing in a particular outfit might be a way of saying, "This is what I think looks nice and I believe it makes me look more attractive." In conclusion, being more than just a way to keep warm, clothes reveal a lot about a person's life, character and status.

The British Isles and Ukraine

1. Look at the map and read about the British Isles.

THE BRITISH ISLES

The British Isles lie off the north-west coast of continental Europe. They are made up of Great Britain (England, Scotland and Wales) or the United Kingdom (UK) and Northern Ireland. The capital of Great Britain is London.

The UK is separated from Europe by the English Channel. The country is washed by the Atlantic Ocean in the north and the North Sea in the east.

Mountains are an important part of the geography of the country. The highest mountains are Ben Nevis in Scotland, Snowdon in Wales, Scafell in the Lake District and Slieve Donard in Northern Ireland.

The main rivers in England are the Severn and the Thames. Scotland's longest river is the Clyde and Ireland's — the Shannon. The largest lake is the Lough Neagh in Northern Ireland.

2. Tell the class about the British Isles. Use the information from exercise 1.
3. Look at the map and read about Ukraine.

UKRAINE

Ukraine occupies an area of 603.700 square kilometers. In the south-west it borders Hungary, Romania and Moldova; in the west Poland and Slovakia. In the south Ukraine is washed by the Black Sea and the Sea of Azov.

The main territory of Ukraine is flat, but 5% of it make up mountains. The largest of them are the Carpathian Mountains and the Crimean Mountains.

The Carpathians are situated in Europe and stretch through Hungary, Poland, Romania, and Ukraine. The highest point of the Ukrainian Carpathians is Hoverla — 2,061 metres above the sea level.

The Crimean Mountains stretch along the coast of the Black Sea. The highest point of the Crimean Mountains is Roman-Kosh.

The major rivers in Ukraine are the magnificent Dnipro, the Dnister, the Bug, the Donets and others.

4. Tell the class about Ukraine. Use the information from exercise 3.

5.  Listen and read about the climate of the United Kingdom. Answer the questions after the text.

The climate of the British Isles is neither too hot nor too cold. British winters are mild and summers are cool because the winds that blow from the Atlantic Ocean are mild in winter and cool in summer. Average British temperatures do not rise above 32° C in summer and do not fall below -10° C in winter. The rivers do not freeze in winter. March to June are the driest months, September to January — the wettest.

The weather on the British Isles has a bad reputation. The British say that there is a climate in other countries, but we have just weather. If you don't like the weather in England, just wait a few minutes. Britain is also known all over the world for its fogs. Sometimes fogs are so thick that it's impossible to see anything within a few meters.

The British climate has three main features: it is mild, humid and very changeable.

1. Are the British winters mild or cold?
2. Does the rivers freeze in winter?
3. What are the driest British months?
4. May to July are the wettest British months, aren't they?

Tahoma 10 B I U

Dear Friend,

Hi! My name is Sam. I live in Poland in a beautiful cottage in a small village. My village is surrounded by lovely countryside with fields, woods, streams and a small lake. Opposite my house there is a big shopping centre with a multi-storey car park. My mother works there.

I go to school. I am a student of the ninth form. I love my English lessons very much. They are interesting and we have a lot of fun. We discuss different questions in English. We also do a lot of exercises, ask and answer questions, describe pictures, make up and role-play dialogues, play games, sing songs, learn poems and rhymes, read and create stories and jokes, prepare reports, learn to predict, compare and contrast, learn to explain quotations in our own words, make word charts, do project and research work. I do enjoy my English lessons.

How about you? Do you love your English lessons? Are they as exciting as mine?

I am looking forward to your answer.

Yours,
Sam

AUTOBIOGRAPHY

My name is Ihor Ivanenko. I was born in June 2008 in Kyiv, Ukraine. When I was five, my family — my mom, dad, and brother — moved to Noranda, Quebec. At first, kids laughed at me because my English was not good. This made me want to learn English and French. Now, I speak three languages: Ukrainian, English, and French. I made many friends from different cultures.

After some years, we moved to Sarasota, Florida, because my dad got a good job at a hotel. I knew our family always had to save money, so this job was very important. I started school when I was six. I went to kindergarten and then Booker Elementary School. My dad was strict. He said if a child does something wrong, he must be told and punished. I tried to behave well. At Booker Elementary, I won an award for perfect attendance. Then, I went to Booker Middle School and won more awards for attendance and was named Student of the Year twice.

When I was in the sixth grade, I stayed in the hospital for two months. This changed my life. I understood life is very important and we should enjoy every moment. I started playing the guitar, taking photos, and joined the audiovisual club. I like art, even though I did not always like the art tasks from my teacher.

Now, I am in my last year of high school. I want to finish school and go to George Brown College to study electronics. To me, life means friends and family you can trust. Sometimes I have sad days, but I have friends to talk to. I had a girlfriend once; we went to the movies, the beach, and one time to Universal Studios. We were together for 29 days and then broke up.

In 2036, ten years after I finish high school, I plan to live in Sarasota, study at university, get married, and have children. I want to see more of the USA, but I don't have money to travel now.

My life has many surprises. I try to enjoy every moment. My best times are with family and friends. School lasts only eleven years, so do your best and then you are free.

MY FAVOURITE FILM

I like going to the cinema. When I have free time, I often go to see new films. There is a cinema near my house, and I usually go there with my friends. I like watching feature films and funny comedies. I also enjoy films about real life, showing people's feelings and problems. These films often make me think deeply.

My favourite film that I saw recently is "Titanic". It is an American film made by a famous director, James Cameron. The film tells the true story of the British passenger ship "Titanic". People thought it could never sink, but it hit an iceberg and sank on its first trip in 1912. Many people died — 1,513 lives were lost.

While watching the film, I liked the special effects the most. The main actors are Leonardo DiCaprio from America and Kate Winslet from England. This film became famous all over the world. It won 11 Oscars in 1998, the most important awards in the USA for movies. It won prizes for best picture, director, photography, story, costumes, sound, and music.

Many people liked this film, and I really like it too.

The film shows what it's like to be a teenager in Ukraine today. I liked it, because the film feels real. The actors were very natural. MY HOBBY

When I have spare time, I like to read books. I like amazing science fiction books and amusing comedies. Sometimes I read true-to-life stories. They show the life of ordinary people, their feelings and problems. As a rule, these books leave a deep impression on me.

My favourite book is "Gone with the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell.

Margaret Mitchell was born in Atlanta, Georgia, the daughter of an attorney who was the president of the Atlanta Historical Society. All the family were interested in American history and she grew up in an atmosphere of stories about the Civil War. In 1925 she married John Marsh and in the following ten years she put on paper all the stories she had heard about the Civil War. The result was "Gone with the Wind", first published in 1936. This book describes the life of the American people during the Civil War: how they survived being hungry, exhausted, helpless and disappointed; how they struggled for each day; how they loved and supported each other or betrayed. This book is really worth reading. It's breathtaking, gigantic, incredible, unbelievable, fascinating! It won the Pulitzer Prize, sold over ten million copies, was translated into eighteen languages and was later made into a highly successful film. This book, a record bestseller, was her only published work.

“A MAN ON THE MOON” BY ANDREW CHAIKIN

This fascinating book contains of most thorough examination of man’s greatest adventure yet — the 1969 Apollo trip to the moon. Chaikin spent years interviewing every surviving astronaut and many other important people who were in the twelve-year programme to put a man on the moon. This book is a combination of biography and adventure. The life of each astronaut is followed from childhood to the surface of the moon and beyond. The author has attempted to discover how the experience of visiting another world has changed them. As gripping as this book is, it lacks the analysis of what the Apollo mission was for. As a story of human achievement, though, it succeeds brilliantly.

“RARE BREEDS” BY LAWRENCE ALDERSON

This beautifully illustrated book details the history of domesticated breeds of animals. When completely wild animals roamed the earth, people began the process of selecting animals that they needed. Some were for food while others (such as sheep and cattle) also provided clothes and shoes. As society developed and people began moving between continents such as Europe and Asia, new breeds and animals evolved. At the beginning of the 20th century there were 230 breeds of cattle in western Europe alone. But by 1988, only thirty breeds of cattle were left in large numbers, seventy were extinct and the rest greatly reduced. This book celebrates the survivors with photographs of them. Now all of us can enjoy these beautiful animals.

At twenty-eight Shakespeare was well-known in London as an actor. A few years later, his genius found its most important expression as an original dramatist. Many of his plays were staged at a London Theatre called “The Globe”.

William Shakespeare is known as a writer of comedies and historical dramas. His comedies “A Midsummer Night’s Dream” and “Comedy of Errors” — are light and bright.

The tragedies “Othello”, “Romeo and Juliet” and “Hamlet” are profound. His plays, translated into many languages, are performed on the stages of the best theatres in the world.

William Shakespeare died at the age of fifty-two in 1616. He was buried in Stratford Church.

Unthrifty loveliness, why dost thou spend
 Upon thyself thy beauty's legacy?
 Nature's bequest gives nothing, but doth lend;
 And, being frank, she lands to those are free.

Then, beauteous niggard, why dost thou use
 So great a sum of sums, yet canst not live?
 For having traffic with thyself alone,
 Thou of thyself thy sweet self dost deceive.

Then how, when nature calls thee to be gone,
 What acceptable audit canst thou leave?
 Thy unused beauty must be tomb'd with thee,
 Which, used, lives th' executor to be.

О, красеню недбалий, силу чар
 Ти маєш не за власним побажанням.
 Це — спадщина природи, вільний дар
 Для тимчасового користування.

Цю спадщину не стискуй у руках,
 Її ж бо вік не можна зберігати,
 Ти ходиш у природи в боржниках:
 Красу потрібно людям дарувати.

Не будь жадноюю, як багатій,
 Що тільки скриню власну обіймає,
 І гроші позичає сам собі,
 А врешті-решт нічого він не має.

Краса для себе — зникне без остатку,
 А віддана — дарується нащадкам.

JACK LONDON

(1876–1916)

Even during his school years he had to support himself by selling newspapers and doing other small jobs. Then he became a sailor and later a gold-miner. Some of the difficulties he met during the first years of his literary work are described in “Martin Eden”.

MARTIN EDEN STUDIES

...One day, because the days were so short, he decided to give up algebra and geometry. Trigonometry he had not even attempted. Then he cut chemistry from his study list, remaining only physics.

“I am not a specialist,” he said in defence to Ruth. “Nor am I going to try to be a specialist. There are too many special fields for any one man, in a whole lifetime, to master them. I must pursue general knowledge. When I need the work of specialists, I shall refer to their books.”

“But that is not like having the knowledge yourself,” she protested.

“But it is unnecessary to have it. We profit from the work of the specialists. That’s what they are for. When I came in, I noticed the chimney-sweeper at work. They’re specialists, and when they get done, you will enjoy clean chimneys without knowing anything about the construction of chimneys.”

“That’s far fetched, I am afraid.”

She looked at him curiously, and he felt a reproach in her gaze and manner. But he was convinced of the Tightness of his position...

A small jar with black sand

A book written in Latin

A photo of a snowy building

We looked at the tag and found the name “E.H.” and a ticket to Mongolia. Later, we learned the suitcase belonged to Dr. Eleanor Hargrove, a history teacher from Oxford.

She was going to Mongolia to find an old monastery. People say this place has special treasures from many years ago. The compass and Latin book help her on her journey. The black sand is from a volcano. The knife could be for protection. The photo shows the place she wants to visit.

Dear Dad and Mum,

I miss you a lot, though I am having a great time. Yesterday, we went on an excursion to London. London is the capital of Great Britain. It's the best city I've ever visited. The most exciting sight I have seen is Trafalgar Square. It is one of Britain's great tourist attractions. The square was named after the Spanish Cape Trafalgar where Admiral Nelson's last battle was won. A visit to the capital would be incomplete without going to Nelson's Column with the four giant lions at its base. This monument is in the centre of Trafalgar Square. It was placed in 1843. You can also admire the lovely fountains and feed the pigeons, who made their home there. I also learned that each year in December, the people of Norway send a present of an enormous Christmas Tree to Britain, which is erected in Trafalgar Square. This is in thanks for Britain's part in their liberation during the Second World War. One of the unforgettable sights of London is to see the giant tree after dark. It is lit by hundreds of twinkling lights. Carol singers group around the Christmas Tree and sing carols.

7. How many Internet users are there today?

A Short History of the Internet

The Internet is a big network that connects many computers around the world. It helps information move from one computer to another quickly.

The Internet began because the United States Department of Defense wanted a computer system that would keep working even if there was a disaster like a war. In the late 1960s, they started a project called ARPANET. This project helped connect different computer networks using special rules called communication protocols. These protocols helped create the Internet as we know it today.

The World Wide Web, which makes it easy to use the Internet, was created later, in 1990. It was made at CERN, a research laboratory in Europe. Tim Berners-Lee, a young British scientist, wrote the first plan for the Web. Now, he leads the World Wide Web Consortium (W3C). This group helps create rules for how the Web works. W3C includes important universities and organizations from the USA, Europe, Japan, China, and many other countries. It also has offices in different parts of the world.

People had ideas about the Web even before computers existed. In 1895, some people in Belgium started a project called Mundaneum. Their goal was to collect all the world’s knowledge and organize it on many index cards. It was like a paper version of Wikipedia. Some of these collections are still in museums today.

In 1945, Vannevar Bush imagined a machine called Memex. It was a desk with screens that could store and find information quickly. Memex was never built, but it inspired many ideas for computer programs later.

Lucy: Every morning I go to work, sit down and log on to my computer. I need my computer to do my job. But I have a problem. I love to go on Facebook when I think my boss isn't looking and find out what my friends are doing. I also spend about an hour at work each day chatting with friends online. I waste so much time at work, but sometimes my job is boring. What can I do?

Nick: My parents bought me a laptop last week. I am surprised at how much computer software costs. I have a friend who knows a lot about computers and he can get me computer software for free, but another friend says I can't do this. It's not legal, and it's the same as stealing. I don't know what to do.

Susan: I have passwords for three e-mail accounts, for my blog, and for so many other websites where I need to sign in. I think I have about ten or twenty different passwords. Unfortunately, I sometimes forget some of them. I don't want to write them on paper, because I might lose it and another person will have all my passwords. I don't want to have the same password for everything, because that can also be dangerous. Any ideas or suggestions?

Model: Lucy, you ought to learn how to manage your time at work. You may also make a list of things that you can do online to develop professionally, or to learn some new skills. For example, fast keyboard typing, speaking a new foreign language, drawing and others.

4. Class survey. Go around the class and find a classmate who:

The name Google is a misspelling of Page's original planned name, googol (a mathematical term for the number one followed by (3) _____ zeroes), although at the beginning the (4) _____ had to be named as Backrub. The present-day company's name became so popular that it entered the lexicon as a verb: to google became a common expression for searching (5) _____.

Page and Brin met by chance. Larry Page, 22 at the time, a graduate from the University of Michigan, applied to Stanford (6) _____ for his Ph.D. Sergey Brin, then 21, already a Ph.D. candidate at the prestigious institution, had the task to show Larry Page around the university campus.

Today Google has more than 3 billion (7) _____, but the engine searches through all these websites in less than half a second. The Google (8) _____ is available in 80 languages.

At the very start of the company, in 1998, Google wanted to sell their search engine system to Yahoo for $ 2 million. Yahoo didn't accept this offer. Later, Yahoo wanted to come back to this offer and offered 3 billion in 2002. This time Google didn't accept the offer. Today Yahoo is much cheaper than (9) _____.

3. Search the Internet and find more information about Google. Talk about what you have discovered with your partner.

4. Speak about your own experience with Google. There is a model to help you.

Model: I often use Google Chrome, one of the services of Google, to search for the information in the Internet. I usually google for some historical facts to get prepared for my History lessons. SNS: Social Networking Sites

1. Name all social media sites you know. Which of them do you use? Which platforms do you have your account on? Use the pictures below to help you.

2. Read descriptions of the social media platforms and guess which platforms they describe among those given in the box below.

Instagram TikTok LinkedIn Reddit

- This platform is the most popular social media site for professional networking. The platform has over 700 million registered users, with about 300 million active each month. Launched in 2003, it allows a user to add their resumes, connect with others in their industry, and even post and respond to job listings.
- This platform is another social media channel with a heavy emphasis on visuals, like photos and videos. The site launched in 2010. Later Facebook purchased it. Now it has more than 1 billion monthly active users and is mainly a mobile platform.
- This platform is a social news and entertainment website with tons of sub-communities with specific interests. A registered user can submit content and comment on threads to interact with other users. It began in 2005, and today the site has more than 430 million active users.
- This site is relatively new to the world of social networks. However, it has already made a memorable mark on the social media landscape. The app lets a user create short, creative videos. It already has more than 800 million monthly active users around the world.

3. Use the Internet to find out about the rest of social networking sites mentioned in exercise 1.

4.  Listen and read the text. Speak about the advantages and disadvantages of social media. Use the model to help you.

Social media has given people the opportunity to connect with friends and other people from all corners of the world. It has played a huge role in globalization and the flow of information.

Nevertheless, many people blame social media for a breakdown in communication and relationships. Now, there is a dramatic decrease in face-to-face communication, which reduces young generation's ability to interact with people on a speaking level. Others believe that SNSs make users feel lonely and depressed.

There is also an opinion that social networking lacks emotional connection, often expresses artificial, not true emotions, by means of "haha", "LOL" and others. Another side effect of SNSs is that they decrease the quality of communication. As Peter Drucker once said: "The most important thing in communication is hearing what hasn't been said".

Furthermore, the new socially active young generation becomes lazy: you don't run to see your friends because you can message them. Social networking makes life so convenient that it creates laziness.

Another disadvantage of social media is presenting a perfect image of users. We post pictures of us when we look good or perfect and share the good news. People don't post news about losing a job or the break-up of the relationship. We tell ourselves and others lies about ourselves and develop something we are not.

Model:

Advantages: One of the pros of social networks is the ability to reach people from any place in the world. Moreover, you can do it very fast, from home or any place with Internet access. Another plus point of SNSs is the ease of communication: now we're connected wherever we go, we don't have to be in a particular place to call somebody (like with landline phones), or wait several days to receive a reply from someone (like with post services). We can message a person and receive feedback in real time.

Disadvantages: With the social media, our communication has become poor quality. We spend so much time online that we don't always understand the feelings and emotions of the person we are talking to.

5.  Write five sentences about your favourite social networking site. Mention about its advantages and disadvantages.

4. Get ready to express your opinion on cybercrime. There is a model to help you.

Model: I don't think people understand the danger of cybercrime. I believe it's a huge problem. Cyberspace has become a new battleground. Countries spy on each other. They attack the other country's Internet, which means all communication, transport, healthcare system, education and banks lose data. Cybercrime is dangerous for individual people too. Phishing is a good example. That's why we really need to be very careful about what information we put online.

5. Make a poster about cybercrime. Give feedback on your poster.

6. Use the Internet to prepare a presentation about different types of phishing. The website below may help you.

2. Read the text and say whether the statements below are true or false.

The World Wide Web is thirty years old. Its inventor, Sir Tim Berners-Lee, is concerned about how people are using it. He is concerned about the future of the Web. He wrote that many people weren't sure about if the Web was "a force for good". He thinks it can be and that it can help billions of people. Governments and companies must build a better Internet.

The inventor had three worries about the World Wide Web. He called it a "mirror of humanity" where "you will see good and bad". The first worry was criminal behaviour like hacking and bullying. New laws must keep people safe. A second worry is how social media spreads misinformation and fake news. A final worry is about privacy. It is important to fight for a better, free and safer Web.

to navigate through heavy traffic — керувати (транспортним засобом) під час інтенсивного вуличного руху

2. Read the text and do after text activities.

JERRY'S PLAN

Part I

The other day, while my family and I were stuck in a traffic jam, my brother Jerry started to draw what he called the "future vehicle". It was the most unusual vehicle I had ever seen.

We had just heard a siren. It was an ambulance trying to make its way through the thick traffic jam on the highway. It had to zigzag through the slow-moving automobiles.

"You see, that's the problem with ambulances. They are too wide to navigate easily through heavy traffic. They should be elongated and narrower. Then they could fit between lanes of traffic. Look at my idea of an ambulance," said Jerry, pointing to his unearthly drawing.

As traffic began to flow smoothly, Jerry continued to explain how his version of an ambulance would work. It was beginning to make sense to me. Dad said it was a great idea. Mum suggested that Jerry get a patent for his invention to make sure his idea was not stolen.

3. Why does Jerry think ambulances should be narrower?

- a) They could be seen more easily.
- b) They could fit between traffic lanes.
- c) They could move more quickly.
- d) They would prevent traffic jams.

4. In this selection, elongated means:

- a) broken into parts;
- b) lengthened;
- c) removed;
- d) trimmed.

TASK 2

to be granted — бути дозволеним

2. Read the text and do after text activities.

JERRY'S PLAN

Part II

Jerry was excited and decided to find out how to get a patent. He went to the library and read about patents. Jerry learned that before you try to obtain a patent for your idea, you must make sure that no one has a similar patent already. Some people hire an agent to check this for them. The agent checks with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, which has millions of patents registered. The agent must also check foreign patents. After the search, Jerry would have to fill out an application and include drawings and a description of his new vehicle. It could take as long as two years for the patent to be granted.

If Jerry receives his patent, he will be given a patent number, which tells the date of the invention. Jerry will have certain rights as an inventor. No one other than the inventor can make or sell the patented item for 17 years.

Learning about patents was an interesting experience. Jerry learned that he is not the only one with an unusual invention. I hope that his idea is successful and that it does not become just another number on the shelf in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office in Arlington, Virginia.

3. The boxes below show events from the selection.

Jerry observed an ambulance stuck in a traffic jam.		Dad said Jerry's new ambulance was a great idea.

LAURA'S SUMMER PROJECT

It was the middle of summer, and Laura was bored. Her best friend was away on vacation, and her brother was at camp. She didn't have anyone to play with or talk to.

She decided to bicycle up the street to the bookstore. She liked to visit there. It had a lot of interesting toys, posters, and computer games, as well as books. She had become friends with Mr. Hoffman, the owner.

"How are you doing today, Laura?" Mr. Hoffman greeted her.

"Okay, I guess. I'm kind of bored," she confessed.

"Well, I have something exciting to show you," he said. "It's about one of your favourite authors." He led her to the notice board. She read the poster.

Laura was so excited she could hardly stand still. She had read all of Elizabeth Blalock's books. Laura thought Ms. Blalock was a wonderful writer. A DIFFICULT DECISION

Frieda and her mother lived in an apartment in New York City. Frieda had no brothers or sisters, and there were no children living nearby. Her best friend was a very old woman named Maria, who lived down the hall.

Maria's most prized possessions were a cat named Javier and an album of photographs from her family in Costa Rica. When she visited Maria, Frieda liked to study the album. Men in big moustaches and women in blouses embroidered with bright flowers, leaves, and native animals stared from the photographs. Maria would begin by talking about these long-dead relatives but would end by telling stories about the jaguars and parrots that lived in the rain forest near her family home. Frieda loved listening to these stories. She wanted to become a scientist to help save the rain forests from destruction.

One night as Frieda was doing her homework she heard sirens, and fire trucks suddenly appeared on the street below. The next thing she knew, a firefighter was pounding on their door. The top floors of the building were on fire. Frieda's mother shouted, "Grab your stereo and let's go!" Frieda had saved her money for a year to buy the stereo.

"Maria may need help," Frieda yelled as she raced down the hall to her friend's apartment. The door was standing open. The firefighters had already helped Maria and Javier downstairs. Frieda grabbed the heavy photo album from the shelf where Maria always kept it. Frieda hurried downstairs; smoke was filling the hallways.

Frieda's mother was anxiously waiting for her on the street. She saw that her daughter had saved only Maria's photo album. "I'm sorry about your stereo," Frieda's mother said.

A MAN OF MANY TALENTS

Thomas Jefferson was the third President of the United States. He is also well-known for many other achievements. He was a writer, an architect, an inventor, and a music lover.

Jefferson was involved in government for many years before he became President. He was the governor of Virginia, a U.S. congressman, the minister of France, and the Vice President of the United States. He helped to write the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights.

Jefferson served as President from 1801 to 1809. Many changes occurred during his time in office. He tried to keep government simple and began to reduce government spending and to cut taxes. In 1803, the United States bought the Louisiana Territory from France. This territory nearly doubled the size of the country. He asked two army officers and explorers, Lewis and Clark, to travel through the new land and find out all about it.

During and after his time as President, Jefferson followed his other interests. He designed Monticello, his Virginia home, and the Virginia Capitol building. He invented the swivel chair and the dumbwaiter.

Jefferson contributed greatly to the development of the University of Virginia. In addition to designing the university buildings, he planned the courses, hired the teachers, and selected the books. The university opened its doors in 1825.

Jefferson was a man of many talents, and he used his talents to improve life for many people in his country.

WHEN THINGS GO WRONG... ARE YOU A GOOD FRIEND?

1. Answer the questions below to discover the truth.

1. You and your friend try on identical T-shirts in a shop. When you put yours on, it rips! You and your friend give the T-shirts back to the assistant. She accuses your friend of ripping the T-shirt. What do you do?

- a) Say nothing. The shop assistant might suspect you.
- b) Defend your friend.

2. For a joke, everyone has told your best friend that this year's school Christmas party is fancy dress but it is not. You know he/she will be embarrassed. What do you do?

- Tell him/her the truth before the party.
- Take some normal clothes to the party because he/she might want to change.
- Wait for the party then laugh.

3. You are going to stay with some friends. You invite a good friend from school to go with you. After a day, you notice that your friends are talking to your school friend much more than to you! What do you do?

- Nothing, you are happy that your friends like each other.
- Tell your friends something horrible about your school friend.
- Try to be the centre of attention by doing silly things.

4. Either you or your friend might win the geography prize. The teacher recommends a book to use for the geography assignment. Your friend did not write down the title of the book. He/she asks you the title. What do you do?

- Pretend that you can't remember.

- Decide it's time to find a new friend.
- Worry that he/she might get into trouble.

- Tell everyone it's true (and write begging letters to Hugh Grant).
- Nothing, it might teach your friend not to lie.
- Tell everyone that your friend is lying.

6–9

You are brave and kind. Your friends are very lucky to have you as a friend. We hope that they are good friends to you too. You enjoy helping and protecting people. However, sometimes, you might forget someone — yourself.

10–14

You are a good friend but you are realistic too. You know that friends sometimes do silly things and you can't always stop them or help them. However, you take care of your good friends and listen to their problems when things go wrong.

15–18

You are often selfish; you think only of yourself. You always want to be the centre of attention. You don't like helping others and you never think of other people's feelings.

Lesson 2, exercise 2, p. 7

Victor: May I go out?

Teacher: What's wrong with you?

Victor: I don't feel well today.

Teacher: What's the matter?

Victor: I don't know. Yesterday I and my friends ate at a fast food restaurant. We like to eat out there. Such restaurants are cheap, noisy and usually filled with people of our own age.

Teacher: Oh, yes. Teenagers have very unhealthy eating habits today. They eat more processed foods than ever before. How about home cooked meals in your family?

Victor: You see, my both parents work outside the home, so they don't often have the time to prepare healthy nutritious meals. Supermarkets today are filled with prepackaged, instant foods. We can get mashed potatoes in a packet (just add water), tinned or packaged soups, as well as a large variety of frozen ready made dishes such as lasagna, meat pies, and many others. Why waste time on cooking!

Ann: No wonder that students feel bad today. We are lazy to cook healthy nutritious meals. Most of us skip breakfast or have just toast and jam or a doughnut or croissant. Lunch is also a problem. The most popular foods at lunchtime are snacks. These come in the form of burgers, fries, hotdogs or sandwiches, pizza or some other readymade food, which are usually on white bread with plenty of mayonnaise or butter.

Teacher: Right you are! You should always remember that "cookie today, crumb tomorrow" and "live not to eat but eat to live".

Lesson 8, exercise 4, p. 21

AUTOBIOGRAPHY

An autobiography is a self-authored story of a person's life. It is an account of one's life written or recorded in some way by that person.

The autobiography can be either professional or friendly, depending on your target audience.

There are two key autobiographical styles used by famous people:

- Narrative

In this type of writing, events will be narrated as a "perfect" story.

- Descriptive

This type of writing can be engaged when you want your readers to build up a picture of something in their minds. It can be because of its beauty, its ugliness or simply because it is different.

The best way to write an autobiography is to treat life as an interesting story starting from birth. Take your readers or listeners through the different stages of your life.

UNIT 2

Lesson 18, exercise 2, p. 40

If you want to go to a theatre you must first look through the billboard to find out what is on. Some people don't like to have seats far from the stage. They get tickets for the stalls. If you have little money you take seats on the gallery. When you come to any theatre you leave your coat in the cloak-room.

If you want to know the cast you buy a play-bill. You look through it to find out who plays the leading role in the performance you are going to see. After this you take your seat and wait for the lights to go down. Soon the lights go down, the curtain goes up and the play begins.

UNIT 3

Lesson 32, exercise 1, p. 68

Dear friend,

I'd like to tell you about one eagerly anticipated and successful event which our students benefit enormously. It's an annual Book Week.

Our annual Book Week is a school event dedicated to the enjoyment of books and reading. Authors, performance poets and illustrators are invited to spend several days with our students, taking part in workshops, presentations and performances, including an evening performance in our theatre to which parents are also invited.

The principal guest at Book Week 2025 was Tim Bowler. His books have become favourites of our Key Stage 3 students. Tim read the opening dramatic passages of his book "Frozen Fire" with such feeling and intensity that we were all spellbound. He prepared to take risks, be controversial and deal with difficult subjects. In this psychological thriller Tim maintains the tension till the shocking and violent climax. This book will appeal to both boys and girls though it is probably not suitable for students younger than 13/14.

Besides Tim Bowler, we also invited Adele Geras, and Adisa the rap performance poet, who proved to be as engaging as in a previous visit to school.

The Wednesday evening show is generally considered to be the best ever.

Write me soon.

Yours,
Sam

UNIT 4

Lesson 38, exercise 4, p. 84

My summer holidays I spent at my relatives'. They invited me to attend a cookery fair which takes place in their town every year. The air was fragrant with the smell of pastries, cakes, and pies. There were stands selling different cookeries. On the other hand, on the fair there were things made of straw and woods.

One of the highlights of the fair was a cookery competition for original recipes. The judges sampled dishes and gave them marks for appearance and taste. The winning recipe was a delicious apple pie. It's a local dish consisting of apples. An hour later, after everyone had eaten the dishes, the disco began. The atmosphere was exciting. I enjoyed the fair very much.

UNIT 5

Lesson 47, exercise 4, p. 105

Tower Bridge was built in 1886–1894. The bridge crosses the River Thames. It has become an iconic symbol of London.

The bridge consists of two bridge towers tied together. You can learn about the London's greatest landmarks from the exhibitions inside the towers and the Engine Room Museum.

You haven't seen London until you've seen the panoramic views from the overhead walkways.

In the gift shop you can buy from picture packed information booklets to a Bridge Master's Key ring.

UNIT 6

Lesson 56, exercise 2, p. 123ST. SOPHIA'S CATHEDRAL

The Cathedral is a part of St. Sophia's Cathedral Monastery. It was built in 1037 A.D. by Prince Yaroslav the Wise (he is buried inside) to commemorate the victory over the Pechenegs and to glorify Christianity. The church became a holy place of worship for ancient inhabitants of Kyiv. Today, the complex of buildings and churches, that makes up St. Sophia's, is a museum.

UNIT 7

Lesson 64, exercise 4, p. 141REASONS TO STUDY LANGUAGES

Speaking the second language will

- open a world of job opportunities;
- help you meet new people and develop life-long friendship;
- help you get an outsider's perspective about your own culture. If you've only ridden inside the bus you can't see the bus's wheels, the exterior colour, or the engine that drives it. Want a bigger picture? You need to get off that bus and examine it from the outside. Learn another language and you'll have insight not only into another culture, but get a clear view of your own;
- help you become more interesting and meet more interesting people. If you speak two or more languages, you'll have many more lively, engaging conversations on a variety of topics;
- develop confidence;
- improve your decision making skills;
- completely transform your travel experience. You'll see the world from a different perspective;
- give you a chance to study or live overseas;
- help you discover a new culture. You can learn a lot about music, films, food, literature, poetry, theatre, fine arts, etc.;
- really make you stand out from the crowd;
- increase your brain capacity and you'll have better memory too;
- let you keep up with the rest of the world. Read/watch the latest news in science, engineering, technology, business, or the latest research.

UNIT 8

Lesson 71, exercise 2, p. 157

Google is the world's most popular search engine. Its founders were two Stanford University students, Larry Page and Sergey Brin, who started the company in 1997. The name Google is a misspelling of Page's original planned name, googol (a mathematical term for the number one followed by 100 zeroes), although at the beginning the company had to be named as Backrub. The present-day company's name became so popular that it entered the lexicon as a verb: to google became a common expression for searching the Internet.

Page and Brin met by chance. Larry Page, 22 at the time, a graduate from the University of Michigan, applied to Stanford University for his Ph.D. Sergey Brin, then 21, already a Ph.D. candidate at the prestigious institution, had the task to show Larry Page around the university campus.

Today Google has more than 3 billion websites, but the engine searches through all these websites in less than half a second. The Google homepage is available in 80 languages.

At the very start of the company, in 1998, Google wanted to sell their search engine system to Yahoo for $ 2 million. Yahoo didn't accept this offer. Later, Yahoo wanted to come back to this offer and offered 3 billion in 2002. This time Google didn't accept the offer. Today Yahoo is much cheaper than Google.

Lesson 74, exercise 4, p. 163

Most of the world's Internet users believe Internet access is a basic human right. This is according to a new poll conducted for the BBC. A survey of more than 27,000 adults in 26 different countries found four out of five people believed access to the World Wide Web was a right everyone in the world needs and should have.

The chief of the International Telecommunication Union, Dr. Hamadoun Toure, told the BBC World Service: "The right to communicate cannot be ignored. The Internet is the most powerful potential source of enlightenment ever created." Dr. Toure believes online access should be available everywhere, just like roads and water. In some countries, this has already happened. Finland and Estonia have laws saying access is a human right. The survey also showed how the Internet is quickly becoming a vital part of our life, all across the world. Over 75 per cent of Japanese, Mexican and Chinese people said they could not live without it. It is easy to see why.

Almost everything we do in our life today, from communication, study, work and leisure, needs the Internet. Without access to the Web, many people would feel helpless and powerless. Almost 80 per cent of those who took the survey believe the Web had a positive impact, with nearly four fifths saying they have greater freedom. Other people were worried about the dangers of using the Internet. One big surprise was that the majority of Germans felt it was not safe for them to express their opinions online.

Якщо перша частина розділового запитання має стверджувальну форму, то в другій частині вживається заперечна форма.

Напр.: The children walk in the park, don't they?

Якщо перша частина розділового запитання має заперечну форму, то в другій частині вживається стверджувальна форма.

Модальні дієслова мають такі особливості:
